Of The

Rationing must continue

THE sight of thousands of gallons of water pouring to waste over the rims of the Colony's reservoirs is one that can be regarded this year with a little less than the usual frustration. For while our water worries are far from over, the prospect of China augmenting supplies during the dry season relieves concern for the immediate future.

The pipes connecting Tai Lam Chung, our biggest reservoir, with the Chinese dam at Shumchun are due to be completed in November. Agreement on supply is still awaited. Assuming it is forthcoming, for the first time in years the Colony will be relieved of the prospect of a spring short-fall or drought. But even if Chinese water does come in sufficient quantities from Shumchun it is to be hoped that some kind of water rationing will be continued, at least to ensure that the Colony gets no more water in the dry season than it receives in the two supply periods a day in summer.

THE reason for this request for frugality which may seem strange to some, is that Hongkong's water consumption has been rising in recent years—sufficiently to provoke concern. Domestic and industrial needs are growing at such a rate moreover that Shek Pak's supply, when it comes, will be rapidly absorbed. It will be argued quite properly that that is what water is for—to drink, not to store.

True enough, but the cost of reservoir building—which appears to be the only way to meet our water needs—is prohibitively against giving the people all the water they want. By the time the Plover Cove and Hebe Haven scheme comes into existence, total expenditure on the three main postwar reservoir projects will have exceeded $1,000 million. This does not take into account the numerous service dams which have been built regionally. Indeed one wonders how long it will be before the vast supply of Plover Cove is taxed to the extent that Hongkong will again have to lean on China for winter and spring supply—or build more dams.

INDUSTRY'S needs must of course be met and the burden of domestic consumers lightened, particularly for those who rely on communal taps. But there can be little complaint if we are restricted to two four-hour supply periods a day all the year round. It will mean some hardship and inconvenience but it is a small price to pay compared with the vast outlays the Colony already faces for reservoir construction.

Besides, land is too valuable to be submerged under huge artificial lakes and with the increasing pressure on space, the available foreshores would be better reclaimed for industry and housing than earmarked for water storage. The Colony should not grumble if rationing is maintained. We have had it long enough now to accept it as part of the routine of life. We can go on doing so indefinitely.

Berlin border closed

Berlin, Aug. 31. East Germany closed the East-West Berlin border to East German citizens shortly after midnight tonight.

Later it announced that as from midnight West Germans will not be allowed to visit East Berlin without prior permission. It would bar West Germans for the duration of a convention in West Berlin of people expelled from the former East German territories.

The convention is due to last five days.

The announcement described the expelled people as "revenge seeking militarists" meeting in West Berlin to stir up "animosity of hatred" against the East.

WEST WARNED

At the same time the East German regime warned the Western allies against "minimising" the "corridors" for transport of "militarists and revenge seekers" because the "corridors" are solely and alone for the supply of troops of the three Western powers stationed in West Berlin.

Normally West German visitors to Berlin can freely move about the city, including the eastern sector.

The announcement said that during the convention, until midnight on September 4, they will not be allowed in the eastern sector without prior permission from the East German Interior Ministry.

Inhabitants of West Berlin and members of the Allied armies would not be affected by this order.—AP.

Japan faces second typhoon threat

Tokyo, Aug. 31. Typhoon Faye raced toward Tokyo today while rescue workers in western Japan worked to clean up destruction wrought by typhoon Della.

Faye, with 98-mile-an-hour winds, was moving north-northeast at 21 miles per hour.

Japanese police said, meanwhile, that death and destruction were mounting swiftly in the wake of typhoon Della which smashed western Japan on Monday.—UPI.

JORDAN PREMIER'S ASSASSINATION

King Hussein accuses Nasser of 'complicity'

Jordan's King Hussein tonight charged the United Arab Republic with "direct complicity" in the time bomb assassination of Prime Minister Hazza Al-Majali.

King Hussein told newsmen in the Royal Palace tonight that two minor employees of the Ministry of Defence were linked up with responsible people in the UAR.

The two time bombs shattered the foreign ministry yesterday, killing Prime Minister Al-Majali and 10 other persons.

A number of suspects have been arrested in connection with the explosions.

The arrests were made by a military investigation committee headed by Major-General Mohammed Saad, chief of military security, which has formed immediately after the two bombings in the Foreign Ministry building.

Official sources said 41 people were injured in the bombings, not 34 as earlier stated.

King Hussein, Mr Bahjat Talhouni, the new Prime Minister, and senior army officers attended a funeral service here today for Mr Majali. The late Premier's body will be buried at Kerak, his hometown in southern Jordan.

Detailed

Committee sources said a passenger boy from the Press Bureau, where the second bomb exploded—had been detained for questioning. Two other messengers who disappeared several hours before the explosions were believed to have escaped to Syria, the sources added.

Official sources said 41 people were injured in the bombings, not 34 as earlier stated.

King Hussein, Mr Bahjat Talhouni, the new Prime Minister, and senior army officers attended a funeral service here today for Mr Majali. The late Premier's body will be buried at Kerak, his hometown in southern Jordan.

Hussein's message to UN chief

Amman, Aug. 30. King Hussein today cabled Mr Dag Hammarskjold, the UN Secretary General, urging all friendly and peace-loving nations to be aware of Jordan's difficulty in preserving her freedom, security and integrity.

News of the cable came a little more than 24 hours after bomb explosions killed Jordan's Prime Minister, Mr Hazza Majali.

The cable also expressed appreciation of Mr Hammarskjold's action in ordering his special emissary, Signor Pier Spinelli, to return to Jordan, "in order to serve the cause of justice."

Young King Hussein was greeted with thunderous applause from thousands of people today, when he drove to the hospital to visit those wounded in the explosions.—UPI and Reuters.

KING HUSSEIN

Amman radio today accused agents of Damascus, capital of the Syrian region of the United Arab Republic, of carrying out the bombing.

Well-known U.S. zipper makers to open plant here

A well-known American zipper manufacturing concern is going to set up a plant in Hongkong late this year.

Talon Inc. will establish the factory in Castle Peak-road near the Hongkong Spindlers.

The Hongkong factory will cater for garment manufacturers in Far Eastern countries.

Building construction for the factory is already underway.

It will be staffed with about 50 workers and equipped with Talon machinery to be shipped here from America.

TECHNICAL ADVISERS

Two engineers will arrive from the United States late this month to be in charge of the technical matters.

Raw materials will be obtained from sources all over the world.

According to Mr William Walcott, Manager of Connell Brothers (HK) Ltd., partner of Talon's new Hongkong factory, "the Far Eastern market is bigger than we can supply."

The plan will materialise in November or December this year when Talon's International Division Vice-President may arrive in Hongkong to put the factory into operation.

JOINT VENTURE

Talon will be responsible for the manufacturing side of the plant while the Hongkong partners, Connell Bros., will look after sales of the products.

Talon decided on the Hongkong venture in view of the fact that garment exports into U.S. from the Far East had contributed to the shrinkage of the domestic market for their zippers.

Mr Lewis Walker, President of Talon, said "We don't intend to import zippers into America."

Hongkong garment industry makes use of zippers from Japan, Sweden and USA.

There are five local zipper manufacturers also supplying the local garment factories.

But by far the major supplier is Japan according to official information.

U.S.-British agreement on bases

London, Aug. 30. The United States and Britain have reached agreement in principle on new terms for the use of British bases by American planes, diplomatic sources said today.

Only details remain to be settled before the accord is completed.

It was understood that Britain will be given a bigger say in the use of the bases, especially on the dispatch of American planes from these bases for reconnaissance missions close to the Iron Curtain.

The problem was highlighted by the RII-47 plane incident last month. The plane, shot down by the Russians over the Barents Sea on July 1 took off from a British base.—UPI.

Cuba alleges 'aerial plot'

TELLS OF PLAN TO KILL FOREIGN MINISTER

Havana, Aug. 30.
The government radio said today that the Foreign Minister, Raúl Roa, and the Cuban delegation to the western hemisphere foreign ministers conference returned secretly to Havana because they were told their airliner was to be shot down.

Stolen rug probed in Thorne case

Sydney, Aug. 30.
A report that a rug was stolen from Orange, in western New South Wales, two days before 8-year-old Sydney schoolboy Graeme Thorne was kidnapped, is being investigated by police.

The rug is said to be similar to that which Graeme's body was found wrapped at Seaford, a burbside suburb, two weeks ago.

A woman resident of Orange has told detective Pyne that her rug disappeared on July 5, probably from her car.

Graeme Thorne was kidnapped two days later, and a £25,000 ransom demand was subsequently made to his mother together with the threat that if she didn't pay up Graeme would be "fed to the sharks."

ONE OF 3,000

The rug enshrouding the murdered boy's body was identified as one of more than 3,000 made by the south Australian Oukaruppa mills.

The acting Criminal Investigation Bureau chief, Detective Inspector A. Windsor, said today the report from Orange was one of many which had been received from people who had owned similar rugs and lost them.

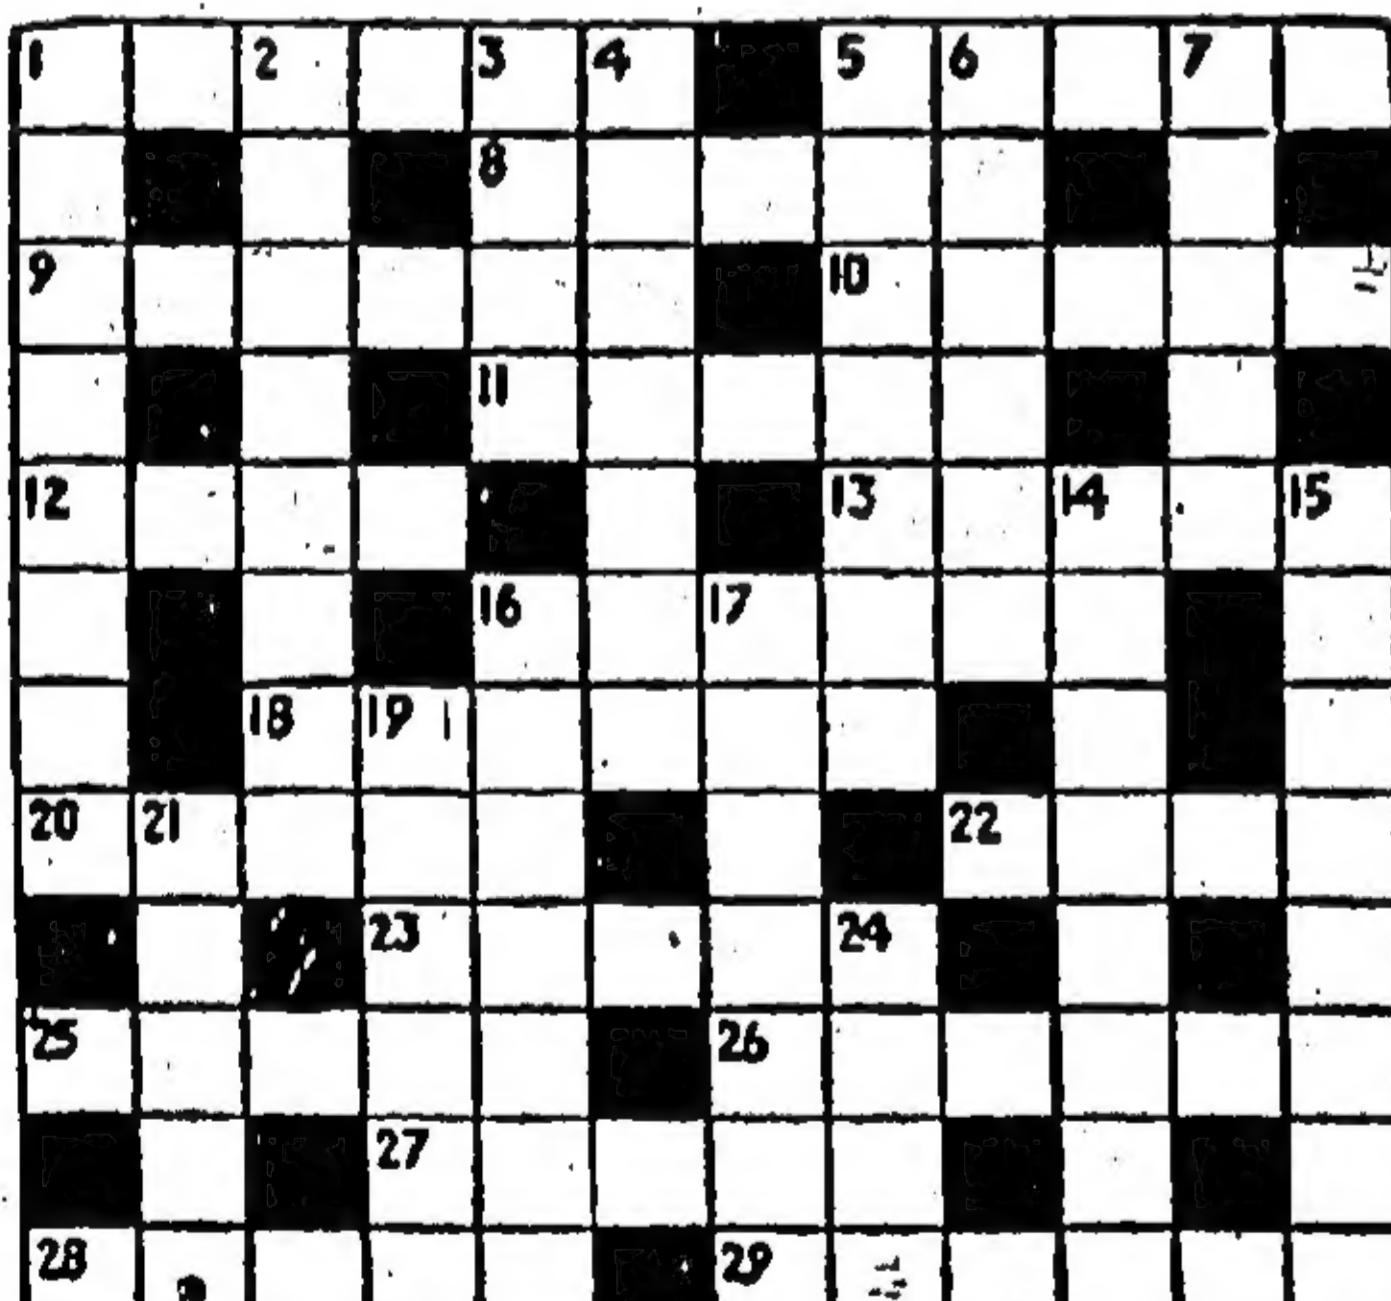

"This report, as are all others, is being fully investigated," Detective Inspector Windsor said.

"However, there is no evidence to suggest the rug lost in Orange was the one wrapped round Graeme Thorne."

He added that despite the increasing efforts of the large special squad of detectives engaged on the case, there still was no clue to the identity of Graeme's killers.—China Mail Special.

Mystery father returns to Sydney

Singapore, Aug. 30.
A man who, for fear of the Kremlin, steadfastly refused to admit his identity, flew out of here for Sydney tonight after having intercepted two of his three children on their way with their mother to Russia.

He is Mr J. Lylik, about 40, a hospital attendant of Sydney, who flew up here from Australia last Friday to intercept the liner Australia which arrived here yesterday with his wife, two sons and daughter on their way to Geneva.

When his wife refused to hand the children over to him Mr Lylik went with his solicitor to the Singapore High Court and obtained a ruling making the children wards of the court.

Armed with that he returned on board with police and his solicitor to find his son locked in their cabin lavatory.

BROKE IN

After an hour of highly emotional argument a Harbour Police Superintendent came on board and, according to eyewitnesses, the door was broken open.

The oldest son aged 14, fought wildly to remain with his mother and finally Mr Lylik left him and went ashore with three-year-old Helen and seven-year-old Peter.

From that point onwards Mr Lylik remained silent. His identity was checked with officials, who brought him to Singapore, his hotel, shipping offices and local diplomats. He answered his name but never admitted it directly.

His solicitor, Mr A.P. Godwin, who also refused to identify his client but discussed "Mr Lylik" said: "He greatly fears reprisals from the Soviet Government. He says he knows them and what they can do. I cannot tell you his name."

IN RUSSIAN ARMY

According to various sources that had contact with him today, Mr Lylik is a Ukrainian who served with the Russians during World War II and was captured by the Germans after which he served two years in a prisoner-of-war camp.

He married at the end of the war and migrated to Australia as a "new Australian" and settled in Sydney.

What happened within the family is blank until about a fortnight ago when the mother and children were to leave for Newcastle, north of Sydney, for a holiday.

Some days passed after their departure before Mr Lylik heard that instead of going to Newcastle they had sailed for Geneva in the Australias.

He left on the first available jet airliner for Singapore and there intercepted them.—Reuter.

Death in a deckchair for parson who lost his voice

Singapore, Aug. 30.
A British parson who set sail for the Orient in a last bid to find a cure for a lost voice died early today on his ship which was only a few hours outside Singapore where Chinese doctors were waiting to treat him.

He was the Reverend Charles Last, of Great Horwood, Buckinghamshire, who according to relatives here, lost his voice completely early this year after suffering from laryngitis for four years.

The Rev. Last has a nephew in Johore, across the Johore Straits from Singapore, who said he had urged his uncle to come to Singapore and try the Chinese form of cure.

LOST HOPE

"My uncle lost his voice completely early this year and doctors at home had lost hope of his recovery," said his nephew, Mr C. B. Wright, said.

Acupuncture, which is practised in China alongside modern Western methods, is claimed to be effective for paralysis, rhumatism, epilepsy, asthma, headaches, colics and general lethargy.

There was no immediate information available as to the cause of Rev. Last's death.

He was seen to die in his deck chair on the sun deck of the liner Wilton Bayes by another Anglican brother from Australia, the Rev. Norman Fox.

"Rev. Last passed away quietly and peacefully," he said. "I was sitting in front of him after lunch. I saw him close his eyes and thought he was resting. It was only later when I noticed his face changing colour that I realised all was not well. By that time the doctor, Dr A. G. Wiese, said the Rev. Last had come to him 'a couple of times' during the voyage and he had been suffering from an asthmatic condition. As a result he had difficulty breathing and found it hard to sleep."

The ship's doctor, Dr A. G. Wiese, said the Rev. Last had come to him "a couple of times" during the voyage and he had been suffering from an asthmatic condition. As a result he had difficulty breathing and found it hard to sleep.

DIARY FOUND

In the parson's cabin a diary was found with an entry which read: "The ship's doctor was shocked when I said I was going to a Chinese doctor. I have had trouble with it for three years. The English doctors have done no good so I shall try the Chinese."

The last entry in the diary read: "I have been stem riptide: 'He has been stem' (Dutch for 'I have no voice')."

Mr Wright said his uncle had spent his entire savings amounting to about £1,200 on specialists in the hope of recovering his voice so that he might preach again.

Mr Wright financed the venture to Singapore.—Reuter.

The troops apparently are being concentrated along the railroad leading to Elisabethville in Kasai province.

A U.N. spokesman said however, that as of today everything was quiet and along the Kasai-Katanga border somewhere in the interior Informants said, are 100 Russian trucks delivered here last week. They are of the type used for transporting troops.

Premier Patrice Lumumba and Bock Studio will be known in future as President Lumumba Stadium.

The spokesman dealt briefly with the brutal attack on eight American fliers and two Canadian signalmen at the airport shortly before Lumumba arrived on Saturday.

Michel said a rumour that the Americans were Belgian paratroopers circulated through the crowd and the Americans and Canadians were attacked as they left the plane.

In Washington, it was announced that the United States has protested vigorously to the Congolese Government about the beating up of eight American servicemen and has asked for the attackers to be punished, the State Department announced today.

The protest, delivered yesterday in Leopoldville, said the eight men, crew of an American aircraft, were badly beaten with rifle butts, kicked and dragged over the ground.—AP and Reuter.

Moscow, Aug. 30.
Soviet Premier Khrushchev is arriving in Helsinki on Thursday night by special train. It was learned today he will remain until Sunday, official sources said.—AP.

Powers offers to take son's place in Soviet prison

New York, Aug. 30.
The father of U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers has offered to take his son's place in a Russian prison.

The offer was disclosed today by Life magazine, the publication defrayed expenses of Oliver Powers and other family members in attending the son's espionage trial in Moscow.

Before leaving Russia, the magazine said, the father wrote Russian Premier Khrushchev asking a chance to discuss switching places with his son.

"After all," the older Powers was quoted as saying, "I'm 55 and getting old. The boy is young. There's a lot he can do in the world."

'BRAIN-BAKING'

Powers also told Life he believed his son had undergone "some sort of brain-baking." He said his and his wife noted that their son's forehead was peeling, as it from sunburn, but that the son's hair was from a strong sunlamp used to treat two colds.

"But do you know what suspect?" the father said. "I think he had undergone some sort of brain-baking. That goes on in Russia, I understand."

Powers didn't explain further what he meant.—AP.

Verwoerd's plea to white voters

Bloemfontein, Aug. 30.
Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd's ruling Nationalist Party called on all South African whites today to vote on October 5 to convert the union into a republic.

"Show the world, that the white man in South Africa is not a colonial, a trespasser or a foreigner."

This was expressed in a resolution adopted at a party congress.

COMMONWEALTH

Melbourne, Aug. 30.
The Australian Council of Trade Unions today announced it had invited a trade union delegation from Communist China to visit Australia in September.

The resolution added, however, that "if in spite of past practice" South Africa should be denied continued Commonwealth membership as a republic then "a republic will be established which, though not a member of the Commonwealth will maintain friendly and other relations with those Commonwealth countries which are prepared to reciprocate." —AP.

London, Aug. 30. The Canadian Pacific Steamship Company hinted today that it might decide to operate from another British port other than Liverpool if a current unofficial strike of ships' crews there continued. "It might have to give serious consideration" to the suggestion because their Transatlantic Fleet have all become stranded at Liverpool by the four-week-old strike, a company spokesman said.

Passengers have had to be flown to Canada or sent in other ships at a big financial loss.

RIOTS

Police riot squads were called out in Liverpool today when several hundred strikers stormed the local office of the National Union of Seamen which is opposed to the stoppage.

Police blocked the entrance as the men tried to push their way in demanding that a branch meeting be held to discuss two resolutions denouncing a recent pay-and-hours award agreed between the union and employers to which the strikers object.

The strikers at an open-air meeting earlier voted to stay out and to increase picketing particularly of Irish boats to stop overnight sailings to Belfast and Dublin.

The strike is largely affecting Northern British ports.—China Mail Special.

POISON SEIZED

Thirty-one tons of solid oil were found on board the ss Jacob Jansen on July 18.

Mr D. Cons at Central Court this morning ordered that they be confiscated.

Revenue Inspector Leung told the court that a man was arrested during the seizure.

Fireworks in London rent siege

London, Aug. 30. A warning rocket was fired today in the siege of two rebels barricaded in since Sunday at their homes in North London.

The rocket, of the fireworks variety, brought hundreds of neighbours rushing to stop ballasts from entering the two-bedroomed flat which Mr Donald Cook, ex-paratrooper, has turned into a fortress to prevent eviction for rent arrears.

Pickets organised from a headquarters tent nearby stood in line at the locked gates as four police cars drove up presumably to break through his defences of barbed wire, iron bedsteads and old pianos.

But the police had only come along to pick up Mr Bob Burgess, siege commander of the flats, Kentsdown House in the populous inner suburb of Saint Pancras, for a friendly chat at the police station about maintaining law and order.

Mr Cook, aged 38, and also Mr Arthur Rowe, 58-year-old widower, have been holed up in their flats in different parts of the borough since Sunday midnight awaiting eviction for refusing to pay higher rents through a new differential rent scheme.

They are being supported by the other council tenants.—China Mail Special.

Briton cleared of painting theft

Amsterdam, Aug. 30. Dutch police said last night that there would be no arrest or charge following their investigations into the reported £50,000 theft of five paintings from a house rented here by British property dealer Mr Robert Cook.

Police said Mr Cook would get his passport back today and would leave for Britain on the night boat to Harwich with his green Jaguar car.

Cook was questioned throughout yesterday and right through the evening by the Dutch police.

At one point he was taken to the flat in the Sloestraat in the South of Amsterdam, which he had rented and from which the paintings were stolen, in order to retrace the events on the night of the theft.

Present at the reconstruction was Mr Donald Buckham, representative of Toplis and Harding, agents for the Fine Art and General Insurance Company of London, who insured the paintings.

Mr Cook, 29, came to Holland by car via France and Belgium on August 19 with paintings said to belong to Mr John Leapman, an English businessman.

He rented a ground floor flat in the house of a Dutch family.

On August 24, police said the house had been ransacked and the paintings gone.—China Mail Special.

DUKE INVOLVED IN STRIKE*Labour MP still banned from Rhodesia

Salisbury, Aug. 30. Mr John Stonehouse, Labour M.P. for Stowmarket, who was deported from Rhodesia a year ago, is still prohibited from entering the Rhodesian Federation. Sir Malcolm Barlow, Federal Minister for Home Affairs, said here today:

Sir Malcolm said that if Mr Stonehouse tried to enter the Federation he must take the consequences of the law.

(This statement came as Mr Stonehouse was in Nairobi on his way to Rhodesia.)

He said there: "I would take a very serious view of it if they [the Rhodesian Federal Administrators] tried to interfere with the rights of a British Member of Parliament who is carrying out duties in British Protectorates which are responsible to the United Kingdom Parliament."

NO TROUBLE

Mr Stonehouse was expelled from the Rhodesian Federation during the Nyasaland emergency. During his present tour he plans to visit Kenya, Tanzania, Nyasaland, Southern Rhodesia, Bechuanaland, Northern Rhodesia, the Congo and Ghana.

He said before leaving London yesterday that he expected to go to Nyasaland from Tanzania on about September 8. He said then: "It is not my intention to provoke trouble—I just want to sit in and do my job as a member of parliament."—China Mail Special.

Ego takes a fall

Montpellier. State Budget Director Neil J. Houston said the elimination of the names of department heads and their deputies from official stationery "is a wonderful step in the right direction toward getting the state government to a whole mass of names to boost the individual ego of those involved."—UPI.

London, Aug. 30. The Duke of Edinburgh disclosed today that he had taken a hand in a strike of Automobile Association clerks at Birmingham.

The Duke, president of the two-and-a-half million strong motororing organisation, said in a letter to the General Secretary of the Clerical and Administrative Workers Union that he was "in touch with the chairman of the A.A. (Lord Brentford) and the Ministry of Labour. He hoped a solution would be reached.

INTEREST

The General Secretary, Miss Anne Godwin, commented: "It is just what I had hoped for." He (The Duke) has once more demonstrated his very real interest in industrial matters."

She wrote to the Duke asking him to intervene in the dispute, now entering its third week.

The strikers want union recognition and the re-instatement of girl clerks sacked in Birmingham for staging a half-day strike for better pay and conditions.

Members of the Terbury, Gloucestershire, branch of the National Union of General and Municipal Workers who belonged to the A.A. said today they have withdrawn from membership in support of the clerks' strike.

They said they were recommending the union's 20 other Gloucestershire branches, with 15,000 members, to follow suit.—China Mail Special.

House by mail

New York. There is now a House-of-the-Month Club. The company mails out house designs by top architects to subscribers for $300 a year.

When a prospective buyer selects a design he gets four sets of blueprints, saving architect fees of up to $2,000.—UPI.

Boac strike is settled

London, Aug. 30. A pay strike by 70 British Overseas Airways Corporation baggage and freight loaders at London airport, which today grounded outgoing flights and caused incoming flights to be diverted, ended tonight.

The B.O.A.C. announced that "the difficulty had ended" and services would operate normally.

Outgoing airliners delayed included a comet for Sydney and one for Tokyo.

The B.O.A.C. claimed the action of the men was entirely unconstitutional and against the advice of their own trade union officials.—Reuter.

MR. K. CALLS NIXON AND KENNEDY "LACKEYS"

Moscow, Aug. 30. Mr Nikita Khrushchev today denounced Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Senator John F. Kennedy as American presidential candidates.

"Both are lackeys of monopoly capital and therefore we have no choice here," the Soviet premier told a luncheon party in Moscow.

"They are a pair, as the Russian saying has it."

Khrushchev drew laughter with gibe at Nixon.

Nixon, Khrushchev, said, "wants to be the first genius of the capitalist world who shows how Communism can be destroyed."

Tolerance

Then he went on: "We have more than once ridiculed such theoricians, and we shall laugh again."

Khrushchev said it is possible Nixon's children, and certainly his grandchildren, will live under Communism.

Turning from U.S. politics to the world scene, Mr Khrushchev said: "We are absolutely sure the socialist way of life has all the advantages over the capitalist way of life, but one should be tolerant of those who misunderstand this—they still do not realise the success of socialism and its advantages."—AP.

Paris Newsletter

FROM DONALD EDGAR

That so-English topic—it's the talk of Paris...

Yes, I mean the weather

Paris. I WANT to destroy one great myth this week. It is that the English are the people who have an obsession with the weather. I now know that it is the French who really can never stop talking about "Le Temps."

It may be that the bad weather this year has exaggerated their interest. In fact the first thing any Frenchman or Frenchwoman discusses is the weather.

They look up at the sky and discuss the clouds. They look at their thermometers and barometers and worry whether they are going up or down.

The habit

I have now learned the habit. I am constantly talking about the weather myself. When I get back to London it will be quite a change to talk about the Royal Court Theatre.

A problem

France like every other country has its juvenile delinquent problem. They have their young men. The Wild Ones, who career around the high roads and sometimes get into trouble.

They call them here, "Les Blousons Noirs," referring to their black leather jackets. But now they have a class, "Les Blousons Dorés," which is difficult to translate but roughly refers to the same type of young man who comes from a rich family.

The papers recently have been filled with a number of cases where young men of good family have been involved in theft, and sexual violence.

Right answer

One of the more neurotic experiences in working in Paris is the telephone. The trunk system is more or less automatic. But this involves dialling certain code numbers, listening to music and disembodied voices which give you instructions which when you carry them out have no effect whatsoever.

I have various moods with my telephone. Sometimes I look at it and feel I will batter it, be polite. At other times I attack it in the spirit of Waterloo.

Shall we say that your number is Opera 02451. You and your self involved with the telephonist. You give your number in a remarkable French. "Ah! Oui, Monsieur," she replies. "Opera 02451."

"Non, Mademoiselle, you reply, "Opera 02451."

"Ah! oui, Monsieur," she replies. "Je comprends Opera 02451."

This is the moment of truth. This is the moment of crisis. If you can overcome this you have solved the problem.

You either lose your temper and say something rude, in which case the whole of the telephone system will be working against you for the next few hours, or you swallow hard, remember you are a calm Englishman and say "Mademoiselle, no they will create it.

None left

Recently I thought there were 100,000 Parisians left in Paris and 100,000 American tourists. Now the 100,000 Parisians have left.

In the fashionable bars, such as the Georges Cinq and the Crillon with Americans—and when I say filled, I mean filled, there has not been one French person there.

Mrs Wilding has an amusing week

MRS SUSAN WILDING and her friend Mrs Dolly Goodman, wife of the London advertising man, had quite an amusing week here in spite of the fact that Sue had come over in a state of nerves after breaking with Michael Wilding.

My own opinion is that Susan Wilding (above) will recover fairly swiftly to carry on with her usual active life. I know that the break-up was envisaged as early as 18 months ago.

She told me that she put up with it after that because she felt she ought to do her best for Michael.

Dolly was a great success here in Paris. She is half-Japanese, very lively, very amusing, and dresses extremely well.

Civil war fear in a town called Paradise

From BERTRAM JONES

Savannakhet, Laos.

I AM writing this from the Edge of Paradise.

That is the ancient name for Savannakhet, a French-style village among palms and swamps now dripping under monsoon rain.

But today Savannakhet is the edge of danger.

Refugee Laoian Government Ministers and army generals, fugitives from revolutionaries who seized their capital city nearly a fortnight ago, are here planning a come-back that threatens to blaze into civil war.

Here, in talks with these leaders, I have found a very different picture from the censored one that rebels under Captain Kong Lee are putting out from Vientiane, the captured capital 300 miles away.

Challenge

There, the takeover by Kong Lee and his 800 rebel paratroopers is presented as complete with Britain-sized Laos and its 2,000,000 easy-going people firmly under the rebel Government.

But General Phoumi Nosavan, Defense Minister before Kong Lee's coup, assures me the rebels will be challenged.

First, by blockading the rebels' food and fuel. Second, by a shooting war—if necessary.

At this moment, the battle is psychological. Rival radio propaganda clogs the air.

Until now girlish-faced King Lee, the paratroop captain who cries when he becomes emotional, has had it all his own way.

He has seized the only Laoian radio.

But now a Laos freedom station is on the air. Working from an army hut turned into a broadcasting station, its wavelength is deliberately so close to Vientiane's that a fractional

CUCKOO-CLOCK MINDS

RECENT NEWS GIVES THEM MUCH TO ANSWER FOR

by Chapman Pincher

I N that splendid film, "The Third Man," Mr Harry Lime, in the person of Orson Welles, made a profound, if slightly exaggerated, statement about the Swiss.

He pointed out that though, through lack of ambition, the Swiss have enjoyed a century of peace, all they have produced is the cuckoo clock.

There is deeply disturbing evidence that many of the politicians controlling Britain's future have developed this stolidly cuckoo-clock mentality.

And if the Pathet Lao guerrillas—originally recruited to fight for independence from France and now turned Communists—join in, it could mean murderous civil war.

But against that, Phoumi claims that troops in every province outside Vientiane are behind him.

Treaty

Vientiane's food and petrol supplies from Siam—alarmed at the prospect of neighbouring Laos going Communist—have almost ceased.

But rebels may get air drops of rice from Communist North Vietnam.

A General Phoumi discussed his problems, I remarked: "It is hard to see how a war without fighting can be won."

He smiled grimly: "I must act quickly," he said, "and it looks as if there must be a shooting war."

So far he has no intention of calling in Santo, which could involve treaty nations pledged to resist Communist threats in South-East Asia.

(London Express Service.)

While the Americans will derive with pride their satellite achievements and their Mercury project to put an astronaut in space Britain's experiments will all mated and embarrassed.

As the journey Russians give details of their fantastic programme to populate the moon and planets, the British will have to explain that their Government cannot make up its mind to afford a missile big ship enough to blast a two-foot globe years.

Though five firms have tendered designs to the Transport Ministry for a 65,000-ton atom-driven tanker, no such vessel will be built because the Government has already been advised that no atom-driven ship will be economic for 20 round the earth.

I shall be ashamed to see my countrymen—among the world's best as producers of ideas—representing a Government too down-at-heels in spirit to afford them opportunity.

No guarantee

The Blue Streak project, Britain's only means of getting into the space business, flogs on with minimum money, no priority, and no guarantee to the rocket men that it will ever come to anything.

This is the slow-death-by-starvation treatment. Because the politicians are terrified of afflicting a big sum for any non-military venture, Britain seems doomed to become a poor relation of the U.S. in yet another exciting field of endeavour.

Spirit, cash

The Atomic Energy Authority will suggest the building of a floating atomic laboratory which might cost £30,000,000. But the atom chiefs hold no hope that such a sum will be forthcoming because of the over-cautious approach of the men controlling the purse strings.

Who are these men? The new Cabinet is loaded with them. I name in particular Mr Selwyn Lloyd, the now Chancellor, Mr Butler, Mr Watkins, Mr Maude and Mr Thorneycroft, the Aviation Minister.

It was not the sudden arrival of a phenomenal number of geniuses on the scene which made the Renaissance and the Industrial Revolution possible. It was the sudden arrival of a phenomenal number of geniuses on the scene which made the Renaissance and the Industrial Revolution possible.

Britain has no stake at all in the future of space exploitation and exploration and will not share in the inevitable commercial rewards.

Unless some enterprise and spirit can be injected into the cuckoo-clock minds which govern us, it is clear what the historians will say of our generation. They will say that when opportunity knocked all we did was to complain about the noise.

House of future passes its test

Los Angeles. AMERICA'S all-plastic "house of the future" will pass its toughness test here soon as it has its six millionth visitor. The house was built three years ago on the outskirts of Los Angeles against public scepticism. That it wouldn't stand up to wear and tear.

But now the makers announce that after a "rigorous" going over by the public, it shows virtually no signs of deterioration.

Officials say it should not be too long before other models start appearing in suburbs. They will be a strange sight.

The house has a central core containing kitchen, bathroom and laundry from which project four glass-enclosed "wings" roughly resembling caravan trailers. These form the living areas.

Chairs adjust to any position of the body, and have built-in speakers for radios and listening. Open shelves glass-plate display cases ("Memory pool") and bunks after the light through wall-size windows in the family room and children's wing.

The cost of it all? "We haven't figured that out," an official said. "But once we get started on a mass-production basis it should be cheaper than a conventional house."

JACOBY on BRIDGE

FRANK Polndexter of Lubbock, Texas, writes, "Here is a hand that caused a lot of post mortem discussion at the Hillcrest Country Club championship here. I suppose my partner sitting South might have doubted East's two diamonds for takeout, but I still decided to show my six card club suit to the rime spot. Then, after my partner had raised my clubs, I went on to the small slam as a defensive measure. Of course, East doubled me. He had two aces and his partner had opened the bidding, but as you can see I ruffed East's opening spade lead; dropped the king and queen of clubs together and reaped home with my contract."

This hand illustrates one of the interesting features of competitive bridge. Sometimes a

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of raising your two hearts to three your partner has responded three diamonds. What do you do now?

Answer Tomorrow

Are you one of those unlucky people whose hair just won't go bouffant, no matter how hard you try? Do you find that a couple of days after a visit to the hairdresser your coiffure looks slightly unkempt? Relax — help is on the way.

THE hair stylists have at last come up with some designs that are simple, adaptable and easy to keep looking right, and the buck-room boys of the beauty industry have come out with new product—a setting lotion that really does set your hair, and keep it that way for almost a week.

First the new hairstyle—it took Paris, of course, to make the shingle really chic, but there is no denying that it is the most practical hairstyle that we have seen for a long time.

IT IS EASIER TO LOOK AFTER—an occasional trim to keep it in line, and the shingle is something that anybody can manage. If you like a longer, bobbed style you can curl the back ends of your hair into a page-boy roll. If you find it impossible to set your hair by yourself, you can have it cut really short and leave it alone.

IT SUITS ALL TYPES OF HAIR. Thick, coarse hair has never been a problem, but the girls with that fine fly-away hair, or a tightly curled frizz will find that the shingle suits them best of all, with no more hopeless attempts to lift it on rollers, no need to straighten out that frizz—a neat cap of shining, well-shaped hair is all that you need now.

IT IS EASIER TO LIVE WITH. The shingle stays slick in fair weather or foul. You needn't worry about being caught out in the rain, your hair is straight, anyway.

Although the shingle is child's play, to look after in comparison with the bouffant, you must observe certain rules if it is to look fashion-right.

YOU MUST wash your hair one day before it needs doing. Lank, grimy hair looks particularly bad when it is short and straight, and can't be stowed away in a French knot. You must keep your hair shining, and this means using a conditioning cream after your shampoo. If your hair is inclined to be dry, plenty of daily brushing will keep it looking right, to get that special shine polish your hair with an old silk scarf.

YOU MUST have hair that is a good colour. If you bleach it, give it a rest and return to a darker shade for a change. The brown tones are in now. Mousse-coloured hair can be given a new lease of life with a colour rinse in deep chestnut perhaps, or dark warm brown. If you have one or two tell-tale grey hairs, look out for the colour-creams that will disguise them and last through several shampoos.

SETTING

If you are setting your hair yourself, aim for a smooth style with the hair curving up towards the cheekbones.

Set the top hair in raised pin-curves—use rollers if you prefer—turning the hair under in the direction you want it to lay when it is brushed out. If you like fringe, pin the short front ends over a pad of cotton-wool to give a slightly lifted effect.

The rest of your hair should be set flat in two rows of pin-curves—one clockwise the other anti-clockwise so that when brushed out they form a slight wave. Then comes the most important part of your new hairstyle—the kiss-curl: Take the two side pieces of hair over your ears and set them in flat smallcurls facing towards your cheek-bone. When your hair is dry comb the kiss-curls out carefully so that they remain absolutely flat, then keep them that way by adding a quick dab of lacquer.

The new hair-setting lotion which gives fine hair extra body, helps your style to stay in place

And this time, Haniid didn't say "Please, please, please, Mr Punch!"

"Oh dear," said Mr Punch. "You don't think you can fit a garden in a milk bottle?"

"I guess you don't," he said the next moment after looking at her eyes which still kept seeming to say, "Please, please,

please, Mr Punch! . . ."

Mother helped

be to be small enough to take

"Mother helped

"This is how I grew my

With a spoon my Mother helped me put some sand and earth inside the bottle. Then we laid it on its side and with two thin sticks my Mother and I stuck little plants in the sand and earth, and laid bits of moss here and there, and gently put in a few small stones and bits of bark, and tiny mirror.

"The little plants in the milk bottle looked like trees and bushes. The bits of moss looked like green lawns. The stones looked like rocky hills. Gomme too, only he called it a tree."

FANTASTIC GAMES SWIMMING

Winners of 400m freestyle heats all break the Olympic record

Rome, Aug. 30. Fantastic! That is the only description for the men's 400 metres free-style swimming heats today at the 17th Olympic Games. Every heat winner, including Japan's T. Yamanaka, smashed the previous Olympic record, and one runner-up, Japan's Makoto Fukui, also beat it.

Tomorrow night's final promises to be the race of the Games.

The previous record was held by Australia's Murray Rose in 4 minutes 27.3 seconds. This is how it was smashed today:

Yamanaka (421), Australia's J. Konrads (424.5), Britain's Ian Black (421.9), Fukui (420.7), Rose (422.5), South Africa's "Fitch," McLachlan (423.8) and America's Alan Somers, who clocked 4:19.2—the newest Olympic record.

Other highlights

Other highlights today included Italy falling by half a wheel to win all six gold medals in cycling. In cycling, Ingrid Kramer, of East Germany, becoming the first woman to win two individual gold medals and the Roman sun claiming his first Asian competitor as a victim.

The grueling 175-kilometres (109 miles) individual road cycling race was won today by the Soviet Union's Viktor Kapitonov, who thus denied Italy an sweep of all six Olympic cycling gold medals. Only inches separated Kapitonov from Italy's Lido Trapè at the finish.

In the women's high diving won by Kramer, Asia had two competitors in Japan's Kumiko Watanabe and Kuniko Tsutani. Miss Watanabe finished 10th and Miss Tsutani 11th.

Kramer's first gold medal came in the springboard event. Italy's crack cyclist, Sante Galodini, is the first man to win a "double gold."

Russia's Antonina Seredina won two canceling "gold" yesterday, but one was in a team event.

Collapsed

The victim of the heat—today the temperatures were again in the high 90's (Fahrenheit)—was Korea's Ho Do Chon, who collapsed from heat exhaustion in the 175 kilometres cycling. He was rushed to hospital, but he was said to be not seriously ill and is expected to recover within three days.

Last week the heat led to the death of the Danish cyclist Knut Enemark, and his body was flown home to Copenhagen today.

A rumour swept the Olympic colony today that Russia had a colony of Chinese in their team. The allegation was supported to have been made by a Nationalist Chinese official.

But Mr. Chan Kim, a top official in the Formosan side, told reporters: "Neither I nor any of my colleagues have made any formal move at all because we do not know what it is like." We have heard reports that the Russians have a Chinese Communist athlete, but none of us has seen him around the village."—Reuter.

Second Vespa Club annual night rally this Saturday

By OLLY VAS

The Vespa Club of Hongkong will be holding its Second Annual Night Rally on Saturday over a course of approximately 180-220 miles, which distance will include driving in town, its outskirts and in the New Territories.

The rally will start from the Tsinghsatsui Car Park at 9.00 pm and end around 8.00 am the following day at the Shatin Inn where breakfasts will be served and the results made known to all competitors.

Each team will comprise a driver and navigator who will be allowed to take over the driving chores in this gruelling endurance test, for apart from an hour's break, around 2.30 am at the inn, for hot soup and a long stretch the teams will be on the move continuously for 10 hours.

The entries

Though the organisers have been quick to point out to entrants that those with second thoughts about driving for such a long period without a long rest should not attempt it 18 entries have been received. These comprise 10 GS machines and eight 150 cc models which is a low figure compared with the 37 entries submitted last year.

Among the entries received is one from Miss Anna Ding, current holder-of-the-Ladies' Cup, plus such well-known names in the Club as George Huntley, "Ricky" Souza, John Y. Hu and others.

The competitors have been instructed to assemble at the Car Park at 8.00 pm, with full tanks and Controller Jimmy Foo will send the first team away at 9.01 pm with other machines leaving at one-minute intervals. The rally will be in two parts, A and B with three sections in each.

Prior to departure all watches will be synchronised, speedometer readings taken for comparison (at the finish) of each team's mileage for the rally with the actual checked distance for the course and blank cards will be handed to navigators in which will be noted down the symbols and for securing the marshal's initials at each check point.

Five hours' driving

Route instructions will be in English and Chinese and will consist of sections at a time. Thus a team which misses the first checkpoint at the end of the initial section will be unable to continue for the marshal there will move on exactly thirty minutes after the period of time allotted competitors to "finish" the section. Along each section there will be two symbols to be recorded in the navigator's card.

Pre-race enthusiasm is high judging from comments from various intending participants with whom I have had a few words. The outcome will be important for at least seven drivers who are in the running for the title of Best All-rounder since there are only two more events to be held before the end of the year. It should be an interesting drive for everyone—baring rain.

NOW TAI LAM IS FULL

But no guarantee of bonus for all

Tai Lam Chung Reservoir was filled to overflowing yesterday afternoon, bringing the Colony's total water storage to the full capacity of 10,469 million gallons.

This is the first time this year that all the reservoirs in Hongkong have been overflowing.

Asked if the whole Colony will get full day supply of water, a Government spokesman told the China Mail this morning that the situation will depend on consumption, weather and filtration capacity.

CONSUMPTION

"If the consumption figure is high, rains are scanty and filtration facilities cannot cope with high consumption in spite of all reservoirs overflowing, a full day supply will not be feasible," he said.

"However, at present many districts are receiving unofficial bonus supply all day round, and such districts vary from day to day," he added.

Essentially there is no substantial change in the official supply hours for the Colony, according to the Water Authority. This morning's downpour will do little to waste.

RAINFALL

From midnight last night to 8 am today, 0.44 of an inch was recorded at the Royal Observatory.

The heaviest fall occurred between 6 am and 7 am.

Up to 7 am today, a total of 15.28 inches of rain had fallen in the wake of tropical storm Elaine since Monday last week.

And the total since January 1 was 66.57 inches as against 66.23 inches average for this time of the year.

Another new hotel for HK

Another new modern hotel to add to Hongkong's tourist accommodation will spring up in Causeway Bay in 20 months' time.

It is the 15-storeyed Waldorf Hotel which will be built at a cost of more than $3 million.

Construction will start in about two months' time.

The old hotel on the same site has been under demolition since mid-July.

In another week's time, the site will be all clear for new foundation work and construction.

According to the management, the rooms will be planned on ultra-modern lines.

There will be a restaurant on the first, second and third floors.

The first floor will also contain a night-club.

The other floors will be taken up by rooms, 100 in all.
